MINUTE ENTRY

The parties raised an issue at the last status conference whether the family evaluator had authority to communicate with the safe harbor therapist appointed in this matter. After further consideration, the Court finds that it is appropriate for the family evaluator to have authority to communicate with the safe harbor therapist appointed in this matter on following conditions: the evaluator may receive only a summary of the safe harbor therapist's notes, not the official counseling notes; the evaluator may not communicate the contents of the safe harbor therapist's communications to anyone; the evaluator may utilize the communications solely for the purpose of supplementing his work and his opinions to date.

All parties representing themselves must keep the Court updated with address changes. A form may be downloaded at: <http://www.superiorcourt.maricopa.gov/SuperiorCourt/Self-ServiceCenter>.
